HELP US ACHIEVE OUR GOAL

Mogo, Bodalla, Tilba, Cobargo & Quamma.... These are just some of the small public schools located on the South Coast of New South Wales who have been through the traumatic fires of 2019. Most of these communities have faced and are currently facing events most people will never understand, yet they continue to get up every day and continue with their lives. These small towns are very close communities and help everyone they can. They rely on community funding and local fundraisers to support their local schools.

It is only October 2023 and the Department of Education have already advised parents to keep their children home due to the high temperatures and winds. The day was in September, it was 34 degrees, and it is not even summer. Schools that could not facilitate a comfortable learning area were shut down. This puts immense pressure on parents and grandparents to keep their children home when they work part time or full time. This is where we come in.

Johns Lyng Regional Builders are happy to be assisting in the “JLG Communities we Understand” fundraiser for our underprivileged country school communities on the South Coast of NSW, which do not have the funding support from the NSW Department of Education.

Here at Johns Lyng Regional Builders, we believe in creating equality amongst schools and ensuring each and every child receives an education they deserve. We believe each school should have basic facilities to help facilitate a single day of learning for our children. Basic air conditioning systems go a long way in providing the comfort for our children to learn in a cool environment through the horrible heat this summer will bring.

Together we could utilise your help in donating to our fundraiser, to ensure each school is granted an air conditioner for every classroom, allowing kids to attend schools and continue their education on warm days.

For further information or if you are able to assist, please contact Kimberley Overton.
